building

In my opinion, being with the wider team without any barriers is brilliant, we can collaborate on issues much more easily.

Beautiful building, great space.

The Hub cafeteria is a great addition to WM and provides a great choice of reasonably priced food items throughout the day – without having to move your car and go elsewhere for food.

The open plan has improved communication, and the sharing area makes it much easier to discuss ideas

positively resourceful

The building itself is state of the art and our work surroundings feel fresh, clean and new.

There is already a greater sense of collaboration between teams that will only grow as we all settle into the new site.

The off-beat discussions that come up in the café often move things forward without us having to set times in calendars and meet formally.

The Dispatch team have adapted really well to the open plan environment, it has also facilitated improved communication with other departments
